BOUNDARIES OF SCHOOL DIVISIONS

The boundary of the respective school divisions is given herewith for the convenience of those who are unacquainted with their limits. Divisions one to nine, inclusive, for the District of Columbia, are provided with school buildings for white children. Divisions 10 to 13, inclusive, for the District of Columbia, are provided with school buildings for colored children. Where a child resides on the line separating two divisions in which he may receive instruction it is the rule that said child shall attend the school provided for him nearest his home. No inflexible rule obtains, however, where it is necessary to maintain a certain grade or school in a particular division.
